READING 2

Steven Spielberg is the most famous filmmaker in the history of Hollywood. Since 1975, he has directed many of the most successful American films, including Jaws, E.T. - The Extra Terrestrial, Raiders of the Lost Ark, Jurassic Park, Schindler's List, and War of the Worlds, and he has earned billions of dollars. Since he started making films, he has won many awards, including three Oscars.

Even as a young child, he had a fascination for the film industry. He made little films which involved crashes with his train set, and his friends paid to see them!

Then he got a prize for his first real film, called Escape to Nowhere, when he was only 13 years old. But he still couldn't get into film school, so he studied English Literature at California State University.

While he was a student, he made another film called Amblin. Because of this film, he got his first job in Universal Studios, and he became the youngest-ever director to work for a major film studio.

Steven Spielberg says that his success at work is because of his happy family life. He has been happily married to his second wife, actress Kate Capshaw, since 1991, and between them they have seven children. They all live in California, where he now has his own film studio – Dreamworks SKG. Although he is always busy, he only works from 9.30 to 5.30 during the week, and never at weekends. Although he is one of the most successful filmmakers of all time, he is a family man first!

READING 3

Davina Moody Drama Queen

Los Angeles

Wednesday, February 8th

She arrived by private jet on Sunday morning with a 20-strong entourage, including her PA (personal assistant), the PA to the PA, her hairdresser, make-up artist, manicurist, chef, dietician, masseuse, personal trainer, chauffeur, six bodyguards and, of course, a vet for her six-month-old King Charles Spaniel, Pooksie.

By Sunday evening the staff at California's Hollywood Hills Hotel, who have met and looked after some of the world's most famous and most temperamental film stars, felt that this star deserved an Oscar for her off-screen performance. Davina Moody was very moody, the moodiest of them all.

Answer these questions:

1. How did Davina travel?
2. Who did she travel with?
3. Is Davina the first famous star to stay in the hotel?
4. Did the hotel staff enjoy looking after her?

READING 4

MISS MOODY is in Hollywood to attend the premiere of her latest movie. She has hired 17 rooms in the hotel at a cost of $40,000 a night. Unfortunately, since her arrival, there have been a series of disasters. These have given the usually calm and patient Arnold Baglioni, hotel manager, a near nervous breakdown and played havoc with the normal running of his hotel.

1. No red carpet!

The first disaster came very soon after her arrival. Davina climbed out of her white stretch-limousine onto ... the sidewalk. There was NO RED CARPET and Miss Moody NEVER walks on sidewalks. She hasn't walked on a sidewalk since she became a child star nearly 30 years ago.

2. No white roses!

Worse was to follow. The corridor leading to her rooms was lined with roses. Davina loves roses but these were yellow roses. She wanted white roses. She hates yellow roses. In fact Miss Moody hates anything yellow. She has never worn anything yellow in her life.

3. The wrong lighting!

Davina travels with a 'lighting director'. She has just employed a new lighting director. He has the job of organizing the lighting in any room to show her face to its best advantage. She likes pink lights. She looks younger with pink ones. The lights in her hotel room were ... yellow! Miss Moody has now moved rooms and fired the lighting director.

4. Fire! Fire!

A real disaster! At midnight on Monday there was a fire in the hotel kitchens. The fire brigade arrived and ordered everyone to leave the building. However, the hotel staff were too afraid to wake Miss Moody. They decided to let her sleep. Fortunately the fire was small. After ten hours' sleep, Miss Moody woke in a bad mood. No one has had the courage to inform her of the danger she was in.

5. The worst disaster of all!

Tuesday was the big day - the premiere of The Lady Loves To. Before it, there was a special champagne reception. Hundreds of important people from the movie industry were invited to greet the beautiful star. They came and they waited ... and waited. Three hours and 500 bottles of champagne later, Miss Moody's PA to the PA rushed into the room. The explanation? Davina was too upset to attend - she had a broken finger nail and nobody could find the manicurist.

6. A happy and not so happy ending!

Davina Moody missed the premiere. Perhaps this was fortunate. This morning's newspaper headlines read: DAVINA'S $10,000,000 MOVIE DISASTER. So her movie has flopped, and apparently the manicurist and Mr Baglioni have run away together to start a new life.

II. READING COMPREHENSION

READING 1

I = Interviewer T = Tristan

I : What hours do you work. Tristan?

T: It depends. I sometimes have to work at night but I usually work about eight to ten hours a day. It's hard to be exact.

I : How often do you have to work at night?

T: Well. I have to be on call two nights a week.

I : And do you have to work at weekends?

T : Sometimes. In this job you have to work very unsocial hours because you never know if there'll be an emergency.

I : Tell me about your days.

T: Well, there's always variety and that's good. In the mornings I work here in the surgery but in the afternoons I have to go out on visits - often, here in the countryside, to farms.

I : What's the most difficult thing about the job?

T: Well, it's the night shifts really. When I'm on call at night I don't have to stay in the surgery, I can go home but I can never relax. I can't watch TV or have a drink. And when I get back home after an emergency I find it really difficult to sleep.

I : I hear the training's quite hard.

T : Oh yes, I had to study for five years. I was at Liverpool University, and as part of my training I came here to do work experience and when I graduated, they offered me a job. I didn't have to look for a job.

I : That was lucky.

T: Yes, I know, but the other students on my course have all got good jobs now.

Answer the questions:

1. How long does he have to work?

2. Does he have to work at night?

3. How long did he have to study?

4. Why was he lucky?

5. What other things does Tristan have to do?

READING 2

D = Doctor M = Manuel

D: Hello, Come and sit down. What seems to be the matter?

M: Well, I haven't felt very well for a few days. I've got a bit of a temperature, and I just feel terrible. I've got stomach-ache as well.

D: Have you felt sick?

M: I've been sick a few times.

D: Mm. Let me have a look at you. Your glands aren't swollen. Have you got a sore throat?

M: No, I haven't.

D: Have you had diarrhoea at all?

M: Yes, I have, actually.

D: Have you eaten anything which might have disagreed with you?

M: No. I don't think so... Oh! I went to a barbecue a few days ago and the chicken wasn't properly cooked.

D: It could be that, or just something that was left out of the fridge for too long.

M: I think it was the chicken. I started being ill that night.

D: Well, you should have a day or two in bed, and I'll give you something that will help with the stomach-ache and diarrhoea. Drink plenty of liquids, and just take things easy for a while. I'll write you a prescription.

M: Thank you. Do I have to pay you?

D: No, no. Seeing me is free, but you'll have to pay for the prescription. It's £7.

M: Right. Thanks very much. Goodbye. D Bye-bye.

Answer the questions:

1. What are Manuel's symptoms?
2. What is the doctor's diagnosis?
3. What advice does she give him?
4. What does she prescribe?

TODD CHRISTIAN, the Human Cannonball, has lost his job, because he is terrified of flying. But it isn't the enormous cannon that scares him, it's aeroplanes! He is quite happy to fly 30 metres above the circus at 80 kph, but he won't get on a plane.

When Todd, 26, injured his leg during a performance, the circus said he should go to Brazil for a special training course. But Todd refused to go. He said, 'I know it sounds crazy, because I'm a human cannonball, but I don't like long flights. If I'm on a plane for a long time, I start to panic.'

So the circus told him he had to leave his job. Todd said he was very upset. He is now discussing the situation with his lawyer. He thinks he doesn't have to do the course.

Meanwhile, Brazilian Diego Zeiman, the Human Rocket, has arrived at the circus to take Todd's job. Senhor Zeman has already done the special training course. I feel sorry for Todd, but this is my dream job and I'm very happy,' said the Human Rocket.

Marnie Dock, who became the world's first female human cannonball at the age of 16, is now the circus's cannon trainer. She thought that Todd should do the training course. She explained that the circus had to be very strict, as the human cannonball performance could be very dangerous. 'We did it for his own safety,' she said.

Meanwhile, the circus has offered him another job - as a clown.

Read the newspaper article and mark the sentences true (✓) false (X), or don't know (?). Correct the false sentence.

1. Todd is scared of his job.
2. The circus wanted him to go on a training course in South America.
3. He was worried about flying there.
4. The circus said he didn't have to go on the course.
5. Todd doesn't think the training course is necessary.
6. Diego Zeman is a friend of Todd's.
7. Marnie Dock advised Todd to do the course.
8. Todd has decided to take the job as a clown.

Find words in the text which mean ...

1. really scared =
- 2 very big, huge =
3. hurt (a part of your body) =
4. a show =
5. feel really nervous and scared =
6. unhappy =

READING 4

My daughter Evie is living in London now. She went there four months ago, and I'm really very worried about her. She says she's having a great time but I just think London's such a dangerous place for a young girl, and she's still only 18. She shouldn't live so far away from home. Her mother went with her to help her look for somewhere to live. But I didn't go. I don't like London - I don't like big cities. Why did she have to go there? I don't understand. She says she wants to be a dancer, and she's doing a sort of course, a ballet course or something. But ballet isn't a real job, and you don't earn much money being a dancer, do you? She's a clever girl. I think she should go to university.

She's living in a flat in London - with her boyfriend. I think, and I don't like that at all! We've never met the boyfriend -Michael, I think his name is. He hasn't got a job and so Evie has to earn some extra money - she works at the weekends as a dancer in a theatre or club, I think. I just hope it's a nice place. She phones home sometimes, but not a lot, and we phone her, but so often her mobile's turned off or she doesn't answer. When I do manage to talk to her, she just tells us that we should get a mobile so she can text us. She says we shouldn't worry. How can we not worry? We're her parents, we miss her and of course we worry, sometimes I can't sleep at night. She really must come home more often.

Answer these questions:

1. How old is Evie? When did she move to London?
2. Is she enjoying living there? What does she think of London?
3. Why did she move there?
4. Where is she living?
5. Who is she living with?
6. What does her boyfriend do? What's his name?
7. What does she do at the weekend?
8. Why does she have to earn extra money?

9. How often does she phone home?

10. What does she say to her parents?

READING 5

I want to be a professional dancer, so I came to London four months ago to start a course at the English National Ballet School. If you want a good dance career, you have to go to a good school and you have to start young - I'm almost 19, nearly too old! I know my parents are worried about me living in London, but it isn't dangerous. You just have to be careful, that's all. It was difficult in the beginning. I didn't know anybody, and London's such a big place. But I love it now. There's lots to do and see.

I'm living in a small flat near the ballet school with Francine, another dance student. We're good friends now. And I've also got a boyfriend! His name's Marco and he's doing the same course. He still lives with his parents, quite close to our flat. His parents are really kind, and I often spend the evenings with them. I want to take Marco home to meet my parents. But the train journey is expensive. And I haven't got much money. London's really expensive, so Francine and I have to work every weekend. We teach children's dance classes at a school nearby. It's good fun, actually!

I phone my parents three times a week! My dad always sounds so worried! He shouldn't be. I try to tell him not to worry but he doesn't listen. I love my mum and dad very much, but I can't live at home for the rest of my life. They really must come to London to visit me. And I think they should get a mobile. Then I could send them text messages, and maybe they wouldn't worry so much.

1. How old is Evie? When did she move to London?

2. Is she enjoying living there? What does she think of London?

3. Why did she move there?
4. Where is she living?
5. Who is she living with?
6. What does her boyfriend do? Whats his name?
7. What does she do at the weekend?
8. Why does she have to earn extra money?
9. How often does she phone home?
10. What does she say to her parents?

JOBS FOR THE BOYS AND GIRLS

A recent report by the Equal Opportunities Commission, called 'Free to Choose', says that schools and employers are still recommending some careers only for boys and others only for girls. The government has to take action on this, says the EOC.

At school, boys and girls continue to study subjects that are traditional for their gender, and they continue to get poor careers advice. Employers for some jobs still choose young people because of their gender, not their ability.

For example, less than 3% of men work in childcare in Britain, and only 1% of women work in building, engineering, and plumbing. So what's it like for someone to cross the gender gap at work?

Answer the questions

1. What was the EOC report called? What does this mean?
2. What does the report say schools and employers are still doing?
3. What school subjects do you think are 'traditional for their gender'? Give examples.
4. What examples does the EOC give of jobs which are 'traditional for their gender'?

READING 7

Jenny, a plumber from Harrow, says she has to fight sexism and prejudice every day in her job. A few years ago, while Jenny was studying psychology at college, she had a problem in her bathroom and had to call a plumber. 'I watched the plumber while he was working, and I was fascinated. I wanted to learn how to do it.' But she has had a lot of problems with male plumbers from the very beginning.

Jenny says, 'Some of them have been really horrible. It's been so difficult to change their negative opinion of me. They are so sure that I can't do plumbing just because I'm female. One employer told me, "This is a job for big strong men. We don't want women here."' "

But what do the customers think? 'Oh, the customers have been great!' she says. 'A lot of them actually prefer a female plumber!' Jenny loves her job. 'I get so much satisfaction from plumbing. I just love fixing things!'

What is her advice to other women who want to try non- traditional careers? 'You should definitely try it, but you have to be tough,' she says.

Answer these questions:

1. What did she study?
2. What is she doing now? Why?
3. Who has she had problems with? Why?
4. Does she like the career she finally chose?
5. What advice does she give to other people who want to do the same thing?

READING 8

Alex was an engineering student in Sweden until three years ago. But he found it boring and decided to change careers.

He has always loved children, and now he is a qualified male nanny (or 'manny'!) to 18-month-old Jack. But he has had some problems. 'There is prejudice. A lot of people don't think that a man can look after a child as well as a woman. Some nanny agencies didn't want me at all,' he said. 'Some parents didn't want a man looking after their children. I had to wait nearly a year for my first job.'

But does he like his new career? 'I love it!' says Alex. 'Jack was 10 weeks old when I started looking after him. I don't think it's strange to feed him and change his nappy - it's my profession. It's wonderful to be part of his development. I love playing with him, and teaching him things as well.' What is his advice for other men who want to work in childcare. 'You should go for it!' he says. 'Ignore the prejudice. Just show them you can do it!'

Answer these questions

1. What did he study?

2. What is he doing now? Why?
3. Who has he had problems with? Why?
4. Does he like the career he finally chose?
5. What advice does he give to other people who want to do the same thing?

READING 9

A: Alex    R: Rachel Foley (Jack's mother)

R: Good morning Alex. Nice to meet you. I have to say that this is a first! Interviewing a man for this job.

A: I know it's, it's unusual.

R: Well, certainly a man has never applied for it before. Tell me, have you always been a nanny?

A: No, not at all. I was studying engineering in Stockholm, and I knew I could earn a lot of money as an engineer but it was boring, so I stopped and decided to look at other careers.

R: OK I understand that. But why a nanny? Why did you choose this career, a career in childcare?

A: Well, obviously it's because I love children, but it's much more than that. You see my mother died when I was just twelve years old and I had to help my father take care of my younger brother and sister.

R: Ah, I see. So you didn't have to do a lot of training to be a nanny?

A: Oh yes, I did. I had to train for a year. I had to learn how to look after children properly. Actually, I was the only boy on the course - so I really enjoyed it!

R: So what kind of things did you learn?

A: Well, you know, how to change nappies ...

R: Very important!

A: How to cook healthy meals for children. How to play with them and organize their days. We worked hard and we all felt fully-qualified for the job at the end of the course.

R: Well, before I offer you the job I'd like you to meet Jack and spend some time with him to see how well you two get on together.

A: I'd love to.

R: Well, let's go and meet him. He's adorable! Oh I forgot - do you have any questions for me?

II. READING COMPREHENSION

READING 1

Read the magazine article and answer the questions.

Travelling at the speed of light!

I'm getting on the plane at Heathrow Airport when I realize that I don't want to make this journey. I already feel tired just thinking about it, but if I don't go now, I'll waste over £1,000 on my round-the-world ticket - so I get on the plane.

5,500 miles and eight time zones later, I get off the plane in L.A. It is late afternoon, but my body clock is telling me that it is 5 a.m. When I get to the hotel, all I'll want to eat is toast and jam, not dinner. But if I don't eat now, I'll feel hungry in the middle of the L.A. night.

Next morning I wake up, and try to eat breakfast. Then I go on a quick tour of Hollywood, before I catch my next plane. Another 5,500 miles later, and another four time zones later, I get off the plane in Fiji. I am exhausted, but this is paradise. When I have a proper holiday next year, I'll come back here. I go to the hotel and lie under a palm tree. But all too soon. I'm back at the airport.

Another 1,341 miles and an international dateline later, we arrive in Auckland, New Zealand. Next I'm in Australia, flying from Sydney to Fremantle. Unfortunately, I don't have a clear memory of New Zealand or Australia, except for sheep, a seaplane, whales, and a waterside restaurant. I am just too tired.

I wake up 1,603 miles from Fremantle, and I'm in Bali in the Pacific Ocean. I have never felt so awake before! Bali is beautiful, and I really enjoy my day here. If I ever get married, I'll come back here on my honeymoon.

1,040 miles later, I'm in Singapore. How did I get here?

Then I'm flying home, still wishing I was back in Bali. As soon as I get home, I know I'll start feeling bored!

Answer these questions

1. How long is the journey that Tom is going to make?

2. Why doesn't he want to go?

3. How much did the ticket cost?

4. When and where does he want to eat toast and jam?

5. Which parts of the journey can't he remember?

6. Which places does he want to come back to?

7. How many stops did he make? What are they?

READING 2

My name is Ben. I am 32 years old and I am a travel addict. I've been back home now for almost six months, but I know that I will always be an addict. If I see just one travel brochure, I know I will want to go away again.

Two years ago I was on an island in Fiji, at the start of a year-long break that took me and my girlfriend, Jane, to 14 countries. We watched fireworks over the Sydney Opera House at New Year, saw the sun rise over the temples of Angkor Wat in Cambodia, and spent my 31st birthday on a Thai beach.

It was without doubt the best year of our lives. No work, no boss, no worries. No grey skies of Britain, just carefree months going into the distance. True, there wasn't much money, but it didn't matter. We loved having the freedom to go where we wanted, when we wanted. If we liked a place, we stayed. If not, we just got the next bus out. We only had one worry in the world. We knew we had to return to Britain.

Coming back was awful. We had huge debts, and we had to find work. The routine of getting up, going to work, going home, eating, sleeping, and getting up again is just about killing me. I'm finding it difficult to do what other people tell me to do.

Before I went travelling, I worried about earning more money, buying a bigger car, a house, etc. Now that I'm back, I don't care about those things any more. I'm living like a student again, and saving all my money. As soon as I have enough, I'll be off on my next trip round the world.

Answer these questions:

1. How long ago did he travel?
2. What did he and his girlfriend go to Sydney Opera House for?
3. What did he see in Cambodia?
4. Why was coming back awful for them?
5. How does he feel the daily routine for him?

6. What activities are just about killing him?
7. What doesn't he care about any more when he comes back?
8. When will he travel again?
9. What does "travel addict" mean?

READING 3

Sandie & Ian's story ...

While I was travelling, I met other people like me. Sandie, 28 and Ian, 33, got married and spent a year travelling on their honeymoon. We met on a beach in Thailand. They were both IT consultants with stressful jobs. Now that they are home, they are making big changes to their lives. 'Work just isn't so important anymore,' says Sandie. ## II. READING COMPREHENSION

READING 1

A PHOTOGRAPH THAT CHANGED THE WORLD

This is the first X-ray photograph. It was taken by a German scientist, Wilhelm Konrad Roentgen, in 1896. It is his wife's hand. The bones in her hand (and also her wedding ring!) are clearly seen in the photo.

X-rays were discovered by accident, while Roentgen was experimenting with electricity. Soon after, he built the first X-ray machine. Immediately, hospital operations were made much safer. For the first time, doctors could see inside people's bodies before they cut them open! In 1901, Roentgen was awarded the very first Nobel Prize in Physics. His invention is still used every day by doctors and dentists, and is called 'the window into the human body'.

Since the introduction of computer imaging in the 1970s, X-ray machines have been used for other things, too. At airports, many criminals have been caught with illegal items in their luggage. Also, lost works of art have been discovered underneath other paintings. In factories, many faults in new products are found every day, using X-rays. There is no doubt that new uses for X-rays will be developed in the future.

Read the story of X-rays. Are these sentences true (T) or false (X)?
Correct the false sentences.

1. X-rays were discovered by Wilhelm Roentgen in 1986.
2. The first X-ray photograph was taken by Roentgen's wife.

3. The first X-ray machine was also invented by Roentgen.
4. It is called 'the window into the human body'.
5. X-rays are only used in medicine. X(in medicine, at airport, in factories)

READING 2

The history of paper

Today, paper is used for hundreds of everyday things - books and newspapers, of course, but also money, stamps, cups, bags, and even some clothes. Long ago, before paper, people wrote on animal skins, bones and stones. Then in 2700 BC, the Egyptians started to make papyrus, which was similar to paper. But the first real paper was invented in AD 105 by a Chinese government official, Ts'ai Lun. It was made from a mixture of plants and cloth. The Chinese kept their invention secret for centuries. Finally, in the 10th century, paper was brought to Europe by the Arabs. The first European paper mill was built in Spain in 1150. Since the 18th century, most paper is made out of wood, because it is much stronger than cloth. Nowadays, each person uses about 300 kg of paper every year. That's a lot of paper!

Answer the questions:

1. When was paper invented?
2. Where was the first real paper invented?
3. Who was it invented by?
4. When was it brought to Europe by the Arabs?
5. Where was the first paper mill built?
6. How long has paper been made out of wood?

7. How much paper is used by each person every year?

Correct these sentences.

1. Paper is only used to make newspapers and books.
2. All clothes are made out of paper.
3. Before paper, people wrote on trees.
4. Paper was invented by a Chinese scientist.
5. The Chinese gave their invention to the world immediately.
6. They made paper out of wood.
7. The first paper mill in Europe was built in France.
8. Paper has been made out of cloth since the 18th century.

READING 3

The discovery of DNA

Did you know that a tiny piece of your hair gives us information about... ?

- who you are related to
- which career you could be successful in
- any crimes you have committed
- what illnesses you could get
- how and when you could die

This is possible thanks to the information in DNA (or deoxyribonucleic acid). Your hair and every cell in your body contains your own unique DNA. It can tell you a lot about your family, health, and personality.

DNA was discovered by a German scientist, Friedrich Miescher, in 1869, but nobody realized its importance then. Other scientists thought that it was too simple to contain the map of how we are made! In 1953, a group of British scientists at Cambridge University finally discovered the structure of DNA and how it worked. They were given the Nobel Prize for Medicine in 1962.

Gradually, scientists learned to ‘read’ more and more of the information in DNA. In 1986, for the first time DNA testing was used by the police. Some DNA is usually left by a criminal at the place where the crime was committed. This can be matched with DNA from a suspect. The test shows if the suspect is guilty.

In 1990 the Human Genome Project was begun. Scientists wanted to make a map of the 3 billion chemical letters in human DNA. Over 1,000 scientists all over the world worked on the project, and it took 10 years. With this information, it is possible that a cure for many diseases will be found in the future. But it also brings with it many questions. Do we want to be able to choose what our babies will look like, or pick the best person for a job with DNA tests?

Answer the questions.

1. Who made the discovery/invention
2. How long did it take to develop?

The invention of Google

How many common English words were invented by Shakespeare?

How long did it take people to find the answer to this question 15 years ago? And now? You can google it and find the answer immediately!

Google is the most popular Internet search engine in the world. It was invented by two students, Lany Page and Sergey Brin. They met in 1995, when they were both studying computer science at Stanford University, USA. They were also both fans of the science fiction TV programme Star Trek, and they loved the spaceship computer. They dreamed of producing something that could also answer any question in seconds.

Internet search engines at the time were slow and gave many websites that weren't useful. In January 1996, Page and Brin decided to make a better and faster search engine. They thought the results should be based on the popularity of each website - the most popular ones have the highest number of 'weblinks' (links to other websites).

Nobody would give them money for their project, so they used their credit cards and bought as much computer memory as possible. They also borrowed money from family and friends. Then, in 1998, they were given a cheque for $100,000, and they started their own company. Their first office was in a friend's garage! The company name Google comes from mathematics. A 'googol' is a very high number - 1 followed by a hundred zeros.

The Google search engine was soon used by thousands of people worldwide because it was fast, easy and accurate. By 2002 it was the biggest search engine on the Internet. Now, more questions have been answered by Google than any other Internet service, from sport to science, and from music to medicine. Google hopes that in the future all the world's information will be put on the Internet, so that everybody can find everything.

Freeplay -the world's first clockwork radio

The clockwork radio is the only radio that doesn't need batteries or electricity. It is powered by turning the handle for a minute. Nowadays, thousands of these radios are made everyday. They are bought by people in Third World countries where there isn't any electricity.

The clockwork radio was invented in 1991 by Trevor Bayliss, a British inventor. Trevor had the idea while he was listening to some news on the radio about Africa. It was reported that Africans were dying of Aids and there was no easy way to send them information about the disease.

But no one would help Trevor develop his idea for a new kind of radio. Finally, in 1993, his invention was shown on a TV programme, and afterwards, a South African businessman heard of Trevor's clever idea and contacted him. The first Freeplay radios were built in South Africa in 1995.

Since then, the radios have been a great success. Millions of them have been sold worldwide, and Trevor have been given many awards, including one from Nelson Mandela. Trevor has hung a letter on the wall in his house. It was written in 1991 by another engineer who explained in great detail why he thought Trevor's idea for a clockwork radio couldn't possibly work!

TIGER'S LUCKY ESCAPE

A cat called Tiger, who was lost for three weeks in the village of Streatham, has been found today. Tiger was discovered this morning by builders under the floor in a new house. The builders heard a small noise while they were trying to mend a badly-fitted waterpipe. The cat was taken immediately to the vet's. The vet said the cat only survived because it was able to drink water from the broken pipe. Tiger's owner, who was interviewed by the local paper, said that for the first time in his life he was grateful to bad plumbers.

STOP IN THE NAME OF THE LAW!

An 86--year-old man was stopped by police while he was driving the wrong way down a motorway. When Mr Hum was asked what he was doing, he said, 'I'm glad to see you. I've been shouted at by all the other drivers. But they're all going the wrong way.' The police drove him back home. Since then, his driving licence has been taken away. He will be driven by his granddaughter in future.

Not so stupid after all

A lorry driver, who was called 'Stupid Stewart' by his colleagues, has been offered a place at Cambridge University to study history. Stewart Wilson, 30, became a truck driver after he left school with no qualifications. He was laughed at by his workmates, until he took a Mensa test. He was told he had an IQ of 15 which put him in the top 2% of the country. So he immediately went back to college to take his school exams. Stewart said, 'It's a dream come true! ## II. READING COMPREHENSION

Nisa Isaacs

I live with my parents in a shanty town outside the city. My parents collect old newspapers and junk to sell. They don't make much money, so we're poor. But I'm going to change all that. I love school. I'm studying very hard, because I'm taking my high school exams next year. Then I'm going to get a job in an office in town. But that isn't my main ambition. I really want to go to university. So I'm going to work for a while to save some money. I'm hoping to be an architect, then I can build my parents a proper house.

Viktor Panov

I'm studying for my certificate of Education, but I'm not sure what I want to study afterwards. I love doing art at school, so I might go to art college. That would be fun. I might become a designer. But I also enjoy Russian language and literature, so I might study that at university. I'll have to get good exam results to do that. I'd also like to try living in another country. I've got family in Germany, so I might live there for a while. Perhaps I could study art and design in Berlin. That would be great!

Answer these questions:

1. Who is certain about what they want to do? Who is not?
2. Who is more ambitious? What makes you think this?
3. Where does Nisa live? What do her parents do?
4. What does Viktor enjoy studying?
5. Who wants to live in another country?
6. What job are they thinking of doing?

READING 2

At a crossroads in life Andy

I've had some bad news about my job. I'm going to be made redundant in three months' time. It's such a shock! I've worked for the same computer company for 12 years. But I need to think what to do next.

Actually, I've always dreamed of emigrating to Australia. So I might try that! I have a friend in Melbourne, and I'm sure he would help me to find a job there. But if I went to Australia, my parents would be so sad. And they wouldn't be able to visit me very much. It's so expensive. So I would have to find a really good job so that I could come home a lot or pay for them to visit me. That might not be easy. Another thing I might do is start my own business, using my redundancy money. What if I started a computer servicing company? People are always having problems with their computers. If I did that, I'd have to work really hard in the beginning. It wouldn't be easy, but I would enjoy it. I think.

Answer these questions:

1. What has happened to Andy?
2. What choices do he have?
3. Why does he hesitate to move to Australia?
4. What kinds of business might he start? Why?

READING 3

At a crossroads in life Lucy

I'm so surprised! My boyfriend's just asked me to marry him! It was terrible, because I couldn't give him an answer immediately. You see. I really love my boyfriend, and I think I want to marry him sometime, but not yet. He wants us to get married next June. That's only nine months away. I think it might be better to wait. If we got married in June, we'd have to save all our money for the wedding and a house. But I don't want to do that. I want us to enjoy ourselves while we're young. I want to go away and travel. I'd like to learn how to ride a horse and how to scuba-dive. Oh, there's lots of things I want to do. If we waited a bit, we could do all those things. If I got married now, I might feel trapped. That would be terrible. But what if I told him I didn't want to marry him yet? Would he understand? He might not. and I don't want to lose him. I do want to marry him. I just want to put the wedding off for a while. That's all.

Answer these questions:

1. What has happened to Lucy?
2. What choices do she have?
3. Why doesn't she want to get married now?
4. What does she want to do now?

READING 4*At a crossroads in life Maureen

Well, my husband died three months ago, and I've got to decide what to do next. He was ill for a long time, so it wasn't a shock. But we were married for 41 years, and I can't imagine life without him.

I don't think I want to live in this house anymore. Anyway, it's so big for just one person. So I might sell it and move to a flat. I'd feel safer if I lived in a flat, because there would be other people around. I think it might be difficult living on my own. Or my daughter says I can live with her and her family. So I might do that, but I'm not sure. I love my daughter and my grandchildren very much. But if I lived with them, I wouldn't feel independent anymore. And I'm still young - I'm only 68! I'm healthy with plenty of friends. There's lots I can still do with my life, I'm sure. I just need to keep busy.

Answer these questions:

1. What has happened to Maureen?
2. What choices do she have?
3. Why can't she make up her mind to live with her daughter?
4. Why would she feel safer if she lived in a flat?

READING 5

Yellowstone National Park, Wyoming, USA. A hot July day, and some of the 3 million visitors who come to the park every year are watching one of the geysers erupt. Everyone is impressed, but as they chatter excitedly and eat their ice-creams, not many of them realize that they are standing on top of the largest active volcano in the world. Scientists have known for a long time that Yellowstone is a volcanic area. But the strange thing is that until the 1960s, none of them could find a volcano anywhere in the park. Then, new photos taken by NASA showed the reason why - the whole park, 9,000 square metres of it, is a volcano! Volcanoes like Yellowstone are called 'supervolcanoes', because they are so huge and dangerous - 1,000 times more powerful than ordinary volcanoes. There are about 40 of them on Earth, but none of them has erupted recently. The most recent was 74,000 years ago in Indonesia. The last time Yellowstone Park erupted was 640,000 years ago.

But what would happen if the Yellowstone volcano erupted again today? Here are the events that might follow:

Mark the sentences true(✓), false(X), or don't know {?}. Correct the false sentence.

1. A supervolcano is a volcano which has recently erupted.
2. Not many people know that Yellowstone Park is a supervolcano.
3. Yellowstone Park is an extinct supervolcano.
4. About 40 supervolcanoes have been found on our planet.
5. The most recent eruption of a supervolcano was in Yellowstone Park.
6. It is unlikely that another supervolcano will erupt.

READING 6

Day I -Yellowstone Park, USA

If the volcano erupted, hot ash and rock would shoot up into the air at 250kmph. The cities of Denver and Salt Lake would be destroyed immediately, and 87,000 people would die. Eventually the ash would cover 3A of the USA, and drinking water and food crops would be contaminated.

Week I - Europe

The whole of Europe would be covered by a grey cloud. Summer would turn to winter, and in some places the sea would freeze. No European country would be able to grow food for four or five years.

The next 3 months - Worldwide

90% of our sunlight would be blocked and a volcanic winter would cover the Earth. The tropical forests would die and food crops in warm countries, such as India and China, would fail. Only countries near the North and South Poles could carry on as usual. Iceland would do well, because most of its food is grown in special greenhouses. It might be able to send food to the rest of the world.

Answer the question

What do these numbers refer to in the article?

3 million   1960s   9,000   40   74,000   640,000   250kmph
87,000    $\frac{3}{4}$    90%

48. A What sort of car are you going to buy?
B Well. I'd like to buy a Mercedes or a BMW. But of course, they would be too expensive, so I might get a Fiat or a Toyota. One thing's for sure, it'll be second-hand.

49. A Where are you going on holiday this year?

B As usual Tom and I can't agree, so we might go to Scotland, or maybe Spain. You know us. we always book at the last minute anyway!

50. A What are we having to eat tonight?

B Well, it might be steak or it might be just a takeaway pizza. Probably the pizza - I feel too tired to cook.

51. A Who are you going to the dance with?

B Well, I might ask Tony, but then there's also Richard. He's a great dancer, so I might ask him.

52. A What would you do if you won the lottery?

B In my dreams! But what would I do? Well. I might just give it all away to a dogs' home. No. actually, I think I might travel the world.

53. I'm looking for my glasses. Have you seen them anywhere?

54. I like these jeans. Can I try them on?

55. You shouldn't drop litter on the floor! Pick it up!

READING 1

Al Brown, 31, from a small town in Pennsylvania, USA, had his own delivery business for five years. When he lost it, he also lost his home and his family. He now sleeps on the streets in New York. He has been sleeping for a year. It was very cold at first, but after a while he has got used to it. Street News is a magazine that is sold by homeless people in the city. Selling newspapers gives them a small income, so they can begin to save money for somewhere to live. Al Brown has been selling Street News for six months. He usually sells one hundred copies every day. So far, he has sold ten ones today. But it's still early! He also has lots of friends but he gets fed up with people who think he drinks or takes drugs. His problem is homeless. He wants a job, but he needs somewhere to live before he can get a job. So he needs money to get somewhere to live, but he can't get money because he doesn't have a job and he can't get a job because he hasn't got anywhere to live. He's trapped! But now he's trying hard to make some money by selling Street News.

1. How many copies does he sell a day?
2. How long has he been selling Street News?
3. Has he made many friends?
4. How many copies has he sold today?

5. How long has he been sleeping in the streets?

6. Why is he boring with some of his friends?

7. What does “homeless” mean?

8. What is “Street News”?

Read the complete article. Answer the questions.

When Alicia Hempleman-Adams was eight years old, she became the youngest person to travel to the North Pole. But that was on a plane when she visited her father, the British explorer David Hempleman-Adams. Now the 15-year-old has decided to follow in her dad’s frozen footsteps. Next month, Alicia is going to set off on a journey to the Arctic that could put her in the record books, as the youngest person to walk to the North Pole.

Alicia won’t be alone. Four others, including her physical education teacher, are also going to walk the 200-mile route across Baffin Island in northern Canada.

She has been training hard for the journey. She has been walking a lot with a heavy backpack, and she has also been practising pulling a sled long distances. ‘It’s going to be pretty cold,’ she said. ‘It’s -20°C at the moment, and it might get to -30°C. But I think we’re prepared.’

Alicia has to be well-prepared if she wants to be like her dad. David Hempleman-Adams, 48, has been travelling in the Arctic and Antarctic for 25 years. He has walked to the South Pole once, and the North Pole twice. In 2000 he was the first to fly in a balloon over the North Pole. He has also climbed the highest mountains in all seven continents.

Mr Hempleman-Adams said that it took a long time before he agreed to let his daughter go on the trip. 'I am a little worried. It's going to be very hard. She's half my size and a teenager, so I think the cold will be a big problem.'

Alicia's mother is also trying to stay calm about the trip. She thinks that Alicia is too young to make the journey. Mr Hempleman-Adams said, 'My wife has always thought I'm silly to be an explorer.' And when his 90-year-old grandmother heard of the latest plan, she shouted, 'Oh, no, not again!'

He said, 'If Alicia doesn't finish, it's not a problem. She's got the rest of her life to do it. You've got to enjoy it. There's no other reason for doing adventure.'

What advice does he give his daughter? 'Take it easy,' he said.

Answer these questions:

1. Has Alicia been to the North Pole before?
2. Who is she going to walk with?
3. What has she been doing to prepare for the journey?
4. What has her father done in his exploring career?
5. What does he think about her trip? And what does he think her main problem will be?
6. How do Alicia's mother and great-grandmother feel about it?

Faster than her father

By Nguyen Hoang Thuc Doan

Snow girl wins in Arctic

The teenage daughter of the well known polar explorer, David Hempleman-Adams, was celebrating yesterday. She's just become the youngest person to complete a route to the North Pole on foot.

'It was amazing.'

Alicia Hempleman-Adams said, 'We were walking up waterfalls and mountains, and across frozen lakes. It was amazing.'

Alicia has survived temperatures of -45°C and strong winds to finish the 200-mile walk in 10 days, two days quicker than planned. She has also finished the journey faster than her father did it!

How does she feel at the end of her Arctic adventure? 'It's a really good feeling. I'm glad we completed it. It's more of an achievement.'

I'm extremely proud.

But how does her father feel about her achievement?

Mr Hempleman-Adams said, 'I'm extremely proud, of course. I always wanted her to enjoy it. It has certainly given her a new maturity. I'm very proud - and a bit annoyed! She took a day less than I did - of course, she had much better skis than I had!'

Alicia is flying back to Britain today, as she is going back to school on Monday. She says she doesn't want to be an explorer, though. She would prefer to do something 'more arty' in the future!

Answer the questions

1. What has she been doing to prepare for the journey?
2. What has her father done in his exploring career?
3. What does her father think about her trip? And what does he think her main problem will be?

READING 5

Fish has been eaten in Britain, an island, for thousands of years. In the 17th century potatoes were brought from Latin America. However, it wasn't until the 19th century that a Mr Marlin had the idea of putting fish and potatoes together and making fish and chips. When he opened his fish and chip shop in London in 1860 it quickly became popular with working people who needed quick, filling meals.

By the 1920s there were 31,000 fish and chip shops in Britain, and although this number is now only 8,000, there are eight for every McDonald's. A recent study found that Britain's favourite fast food is still fish and chips. Second, third, and fourth positions went to pizza (Italian), duck (Chinese), and curry (Indian).

The traditional way to eat fish and chips is to buy them wrapped in paper and to eat them with salt and vinegar. Originally, they were wrapped in newspaper but most are sold in white paper now.

Write T (true) or False (F). Correct the false sentences.

1. Fish was eaten in Britain two thousand years ago.
2. Potatoes were exported to Latin America.
3. Chips were eaten in Britain in the 14th century.
4. The first fish and chip shop was opened by Mr McDonald.
5. The first fish and chip shop was opened in the 19th century.
6. There are more fish and chip shops in Britain now than in the 20th century.
7. There are more fish and chip shops than McDonald's in Britain.
8. Fish and chips are usually eaten from a plate.
9. Now they are not usually wrapped in newspaper.

The Girl Who Reads Aloud

by JIM YARDLEY

BEIJING - Most mornings, while a noisy queue of traffic is driving slowly along the Third Ring Road into the city centre, a girl called Ouyang Junying leaves her flat and stands beside the road. She turns away from the traffic, opens a book, and starts reading aloud.

It is one of the worst traffic jams in the city, but Ms Ouyang, 29, has been doing this every morning for nearly five years. She is studying English and believes that the noise helps her to concentrate.

It is also the reason why she has become a sort of celebrity. For thousands of motorists, she is 'The Girl Who Reads Aloud'. While she is reading, the rest of Beijing stares at her and wonders, 'Who is this young woman? How long has she been standing there? And why is she reading in such a terrible place?'

In Beijing, there are 15 million people living in very small flats, so there are lots of people in the city parks, doing everything from tai chi to ballroom dancing. But Ms Ouyang doesn't like the parks. 'If I study in a park, people always watch me and I don't feel comfortable. But if cars pass me in the street, I don't care,' she says.
